WOMAN'S PARTY SUES ELKO INDEPENDENT

Supporters of Pittman and Caine, incited by the Elko Independent, broke loose Saturday night and tore down a Woman's party banner which had been hung across Main street between two electric light poles, urging the women to vote against the national Democratic candidate because of the party's opposition to national woman suffrage.

Miss Anne Martin, national chairman of the Woman's party, while in Elko Saturday, obtained permission from Allan McBride, manager of the Elko Electric Light company, to swing the banner between two of the company's poles. Saturday evening the Independent published a paragraph pronouncing the banner an outrage and ending with the advice—"Down With It."

The advice was followed. Supporters of the candidates whom the Woman's party opposes, at 11 o'clock Saturday night, tore the banner from its fastenings and destroyed it.

Miss Martin has now brought complaint against the Independent, holding it criminally and civilly responsible for urging an unlawful action. A new banner has been ordered from Reno and will be hung in the same place as soon as it arrives.—Gazette.

NOT NECESSARY FOR THE WIFE TO "OBEY"

(By Associated Press.) ST. LOUIS, Oct. 17.—Elimination of the word "obey" in the promise of the woman in the marriage service was recommended in a minority report of the joint commission on common prayer submitted to the house of deputies of the Protestant Episcopal general convention here.

The house of deputies referred back to the commission on prayer book all proposed changes in the marriage ceremony in the catechism and in the institution of clergymen. These matters cannot come before the general committee again for three years.

The minority recommended that the present injunction beginning "Wilt thou obey him and serve him," be changed to "Wilt thou love him, comfort him, honor and keep him in sickness and in health; and, forsaking all others, keep thee only unto him so long as ye shall live."

The minority report suggested also the omission of the words "and with all my worldly goods I thee endow," in the service.

UNITED STATES' HONOR.

Hughes' Criticism of Foreign Policy Approved in West. [Portland (Ore.) Telegram.]

The Republican party has selected a standard bearer whose utterances from day to day justify the people who chose him. Not only does he bring before the country the shortcomings of the Administration that owes its existence to a divided Republicanism, but his criticism is every where constructive.

He tells what must be done and will be done by the party he represents to prevent wastefulness and extravagance in the governmental expenditures and to put a stop to the vacillating policy that has caused other nations to believe that the United States has no intention of backing up its demands made in the interests of justice and humanity.

Most vulnerable of all points in the Democratic armor is its foreign policy. Primarily this is because of the spoils system by which men trained in the consular and diplomatic service through long years, have been displaced to make room for politicians and friends of politicians, whose sole claim to preferment was their services to the Democratic party.

"If I am elected president of the United States," said Mr. Hughes last night, "I propose that every man I put in charge of an important department shall be a man eminently fit to discharge the duties of that department."

The denuding of the diplomatic service of men of experience in order to supply political jobs, as has been done by Mr. Wilson, or with his consent, Mr. Hughes denounces as "a capital offense—trading in the good name of the United States and damaging its honor." "Nobody," he adds, "has a right to pay political debts with the good name and honor of the United States."

Which is clear proof that Mr. Hughes has not been unkindful of the high principles of government which must be maintained in order that this republic shall maintain its place as a shining example to all nations.

BRITISH STEAMER SUNK

(By Associated Press.) LONDON, Oct. 17.—The British steamship Welsh Prince, 4500 tons, owned in Newcastle, has been sunk by a submarine.

HUGHES OPPOSED TO INVISIBLE GOVERNMENT

(By Associated Press.) OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 17.—Charles E. Hughes, replying to the charge that his election might mean that "invisible government" would be installed in the United States, last night told an audience that crowded the Auditorium here to the doors that as there had been no invisible government in New York while he was governor, there would be no invisible government in the United States if he were president.

"I think it might be said," Mr. Hughes asserted, "that the present administration has been in large measure an administration of unofficial spokesmen, of mysterious influences."

"And I can state in entire good humor that I desire government through two houses and not through three."

Mr. Hughes assailed the administration more vigorously than he has done before for the enactment of the Adamson law, declaring that it was "un-American and absolutely without justification over to surrender either legislative or executive power to the demand of force, either by capital or labor," and declared that the "plain people of this country should rebuke the administration for its surrender to force."

President Wilson's reference to "unshackled business," made in the same hall on the president's recent visit here, was answered with the declaration that there had been no "clarification of the anti-trust act," and by the nominee's assertion that he was "amazed at any such claim as there had been put forward."

SUFFERS BREAKDOWN

Dan H. Johnson, known familiarly and affectionately as "Uncle Dan," was taken to the county hospital last night, suffering from a physical and mental breakdown. The old gentleman is aged about 80 years. For the past two years he has been living alone in a cabin in the lower end of town and has been eking out an existence by selling soap about town from door to door and thus gained a wide acquaintance. His inability to perform hard work and his anxiety to keep himself clear of being a public charge endeared him to many. News of the death, a week ago, of his son in Colorado is what is believed to be the cause of his collapse.

SUING FOR ESTATE

The case of C. B. Guisti vs. John Guisti, which has been on trial this week in the fifth judicial district court, was concluded this morning with the exception of the filing of briefs. This is an action brought by the plaintiff, a woman, to recover a portion of the estate of a deceased relative, the defendant being the executor. The property in question consists of land and houses in Beatty.

HEART FAILURE CALLS A FORMER TONOPAH

Mrs. Agnes Biddle Deichens, for a number of years a resident of Tonopah, died Sunday at Pleasanton, Cal. She was a native of Philadelphia and was a member of the old Biddle family, of the wholesale firm of Baily, Banks and Biddle, the founders of wholesaling in the United States.

Mrs. Deichens was aged 38 years. She is survived by her father, now a resident of Chicago, and a sister, Mrs. C. R. Ford of Bishop, and two children, Catherine and Buster. Mrs. Deichens was Mrs. Dr. Charles L. Hammond, one of the best known and best beloved physicians that ever practiced in Nevada. After his death she became Mrs. Deichens. Her death was caused by heart failure. It occurred shortly after she received news of the death of her mother in Chicago.

OLD RATE SCHEDULE REMAINS IN EFFECT

(By Associated Press.) OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 17.—Another point in Nebraska's freight rate cases was decided when Federal Judges J. W. Woodruff, Walter I. Smith and James D. Elliott issued an injunction which in effect will permit the carriers to maintain, temporarily at least, a schedule of rates promulgated July 3 by the interstate commerce commission.

These rates are much in excess of those ordered in force by the Nebraska state railroad commission for its "order number 19." This order precipitated the litigation which began two years ago.

The point involved in the proceedings dates back to the issuance of "order number 19," which granted material reductions in freight rates in this state and which later caused shippers of Council Bluffs, Sioux City, Kansas City and St. Joseph to institute before the interstate commerce commission an action to have the rates held discriminatory.

BUTLER THEATER

Following their joint success in "The Golden Chance," Cleo Ridgely and Wallace Reid will be seen at the Butler this evening in the "Lucky production of "The Love Mask," a wonderful and gripping western drama written especially for them. Cleo Ridgely in her wonderful performance as the "wife" in "The Golden Chance," immediately established herself as one of the foremost dramatic stars of the screen. In "The Love Mask," as a young girl trying to eke out an existence by panning gold in the California days of '49, dressed in men's clothes and disguised as "Silver Spurs," a notorious bandit, she is seen in a role unlike anything she has as yet portrayed. Wallace Reid, the handsome and talented Lasky star, as the sheriff, is torn betwixt love for the girl and his sworn duty and is given opportunity to show his wonderful ability as an actor, which has not been surpassed since he appeared with Geraldine Farrar in the Lasky production of "Carmen." The settings are beautiful and unusual, and the two stars are surrounded by an all star cast of Lasky players. Burton Holmes, in his travels, will take you to South Tyrol, the Italian corner of Austria. Tomorrow, another new star, Frances Nelson in "What Happened at 22," and the educated chimp, Thursday, the big wild west show.

J. L. SIMMONS, who has been in Los Angeles, in attendance upon his wife, who was operated upon, is back in Tonopah. Mrs. Simmons is convalescing rapidly and will return to this city in about ten days.

Nature's Rifle Bullets.

What man has learned by dint of thought and experiment some of the lower animals appear to know through instinct. An instance is furnished by what is called the "spiral swimming" of certain organisms, such as the spherical shaped volvox and several elongated infusorians. As these revolve about the axis of progression in the manner of a projectile fired from a rifle gun the consequence is that they are able to travel in a straight line, as they could not do otherwise, the revolution compensating with absolute precision for any tendency to deviate from a straight course. Without such a device many of these minute creatures would simply describe circles, making no forward progress.

Creation of a Knight.

The ceremonies at the creation of a knight have been various. The principal were a box on the ear and a stroke with a sword on the shoulder. John of Salisbury tells us the blow with the naked fist was in use among the ancient Normans. By this it was that William the Conqueror conferred the honor of knighthood on his son Henry. It was afterward changed into a blow with the flat of the sword on the shoulder of the knight.
